EDITORIAL

Sello fellas!

And welcome to finally another issue of the once so famous 64-scene-papermagazine Milestone. Well, one year passed by until I found time to edit another issue of this mag. A lot of things happened during that time, at least when I look at my „scene-career“. I nearly left the scene completely during that time and hardly thought about leaving it forever! I had really a lot of work with university and simply no time left for computers (as I don't like to spend my rare spare time completely in front of this machine). But well, I don't know why, but one Saturday (I had a cold and couldn't do anything anyway) I just sat down in front of my computer and wrote about 7 hours... - and what do you expect? Another issue was ready to get copied...

But don't expect too much from this issue, as I really left the scene for one year. There are no charts, no addies and no news. And probably a lot of names (groups and stuff) are wrong nowadays (I heard, for example, that G*P is dead or something. If this is true, a lot of Groupnames are wrong indeed...). Sorry for this! But I couldn't change it as I had only contact with Sunrise members, and well, they even know less about the current scene than I do...

Also the photo support was very poor last year! I only have to say thanks to Marcus/G*P (2 photos), Leech/CP, Franky/Padua and Morris/Extacy. But anyway: Thank you very, very much for sending in your photos!

If you took already a slight look over this issue, you probably have noticed already, that this issue isn't done with a 64-program anymore. Reason? Well, I bought myself a PC (cause I just need one for university) and decided to do Milestone also on this machine. It is simply so much easier and faster to edit it with a PC instead of a 64. Sorry for this anyway! I know that I also wrote to other mag-editors, that they should edit their papermags with a 64, coz they were 64 mags, but... It looks better, it is much faster and simply easier to edit!

About the contents of this mag: Well, it isn't much more than Identities, Photos and the „Attack on the scene“ stuff. The reason is simply, that I left... (see above). But anyway, it should be interesting to read, I think! Especially all the reactions on the letter I printed last issue, are really interesting! It is really a kind of discussion which started and I am very happy about it! It would be really perfect, if you'd take a little time, a pencil and a paper and write your own opinion about the letter itself or any reaction to the letter to me! We really could do something very special with that topic! It would be the first time, ever in scene history, that sceners are discussing with themselves through a mag! I really hope that at least some of you will take this chance and write some words back to me! I want your feedback! By the way: Excuse also my bad english, but I didn't use this language for a year... Who cares?

As I said before, the charts and addies are kicked this time. And well, believe it or not, I won't take them in in the future! I will only make such small issues (like this one) in the future and I don't want to waste space with stuff you can read in every diskmag. But I will spread the Identity sheet again, as I have only very old ID's here... Btw, with this issue, we printed already the ID's of 58 sceners being namely Luke/711, Asics/Acy, Exult/Acrise, Doc/Atlantis, Silver/Bbs, Baze/Brutal, Nothingface/ Sun, Machine/Blaze, The Audience/Sunrise, Andre(AS)/House, Slash/Lotu, Fredrik/Pretzel Logic, James Dean/Giants, Bomb Jack/Blaze, Maze of Torment/Giants, Hagar/Sunrise, A mi di girl/Sunrise, Erotyc/Dominators/Sunrise (all in issue 1/2-92); Dense/Hysterie, Beat/Topaz, Ayatollah/FLT, Nightshade/Scs, Yazoo/Oxy, Scarface/Varsity (all in issue 7/8-92); Jayce/Dom,

Icarus/RSI, Pussymaster/TNC, XOR/Antic,

Nyarlahotep/Sunrise TTS/Oxy, Elektor/Hitmen, Astaroth/Spirit, Morpheus/FHI, Syllinar/Faces, Lobo/Wrath, Posdnugs/RSI (all in issue 10/11-92); Freestyle/ILS, Lazyness/RSI, PJ Dynamix/CP, Walker/Light, Tanar/Clq, Incubus/Antic, Jamie/Faces (all in 1/2-93); Splatterhead/AFI, Trash/Sunrise, Cruze/Lithium, The Syndrom/ Crest, Scapagoat/Topaz, Ragman/CP (all in 2/3-94) and those 12 guys in this issue. I don't need ID's of that persons again! So please don't fill and ID-sheet but send it to another scener instead!

Next issue will be a kind of retro-issue as Nomad 2001 promised. I can't keep the promise, but if he really sends articles, photos and interviews (ID's) off/with old sceners (before 92 I think) it will be a very interesting issue for all the nowadays sceners (as they might know more about their roots). I really hope that I'm able to release this issue as soon as possible (as the editing doesn't take as much time as in earlier times, I'm able to release it around June I think). If not, it will be a normal issue with photos, news(?), Attack on the scene (I hope), ID's and reports.

Last point: I need your support!! I can't go everywhere and take photos - so PLEASE! If you have some scene-photos, send them to me! You'll surely get them undamaged back! Believe me! And also articles, reports (about any computer-meeting?!), CD-reviews, just anything, is hardly needed!! I'd be very, very happy to receive some more support than this time. Do me the favour, and send some stuff back to me! (I also need a new cover and some more graphix!!!). That's all folks! Enjoy this issue and think about sending reactions or anything back to me! See you!!

Attack on the scene!

Well, as you might remember, I published a letter last issue (one year ago to put it in another way) which was meant to provoke some kind of discussion about, well, the scene in general. And it was really a kind of success for me! For the first time - ever - I received really a lot of letters concerning this article! It is a very interesting discussion I think, and I hope that I'll get much more response next time! As a lot of you might not know about this special article (or simply forgot it...), I'll publish it again. On the next page(s) you'll be able to read all the different opinions from Milestone readers. All comments which are written italic (example) are personal comments by the editor (he, that's me...). Thanks a lot to all those guys who wrote back to me! It was great!! Please remember that this letter represents neither the opinion of the editor nor of Sunrise. It was written by an old contact of me who left the scene some years ago - originally as a disknote. Read it again!

The Letter

Hi!

If you're interested in a note, which should make you start to think about all the things we do, then read on. Else: press reset as fast as possible. Attention: It may be that I'm very down at the moment and that I see things a bit too dark. But nevertheless there should be a kind of truth in the following words. If you really want to know something about my thoughts then read on. Those who pretend to be cool and don't want to get shaken in their opinion should reset now! And scratch this note that you'll never read it! It may be that you are going to recognize how you really are.

The time has come to stop this life of trying hard to keep the own view of life. It is time to face reality!! What do you think we are? Most of you (and me) think that they're very cool because of being in a „good“ group. But what does it really mean to be (for example) in „Legend“ (at that time, shortly after the breakdown of Ikari+Talent, Legend was worlds cracking group No.1 - doubtless), or any other „elite“-group?? You're still the little, unknown computerfreak which is in real life the most ignored person.

You are trying to save yourself into a world which simply doesn't exist! You are all scattering about „school“ and that it sucks and that the „scene“ is the only thing that counts! Hey kids! Wake up! If you're not as good in school as others you'll never earn the same money! Hey, we're in a society, in which you can't live without working and learning! The 64 isn't an alternative! Got it? This thing in front of you is just a machine!! Try to speak with it - it will never reply! It isn't a friend!

„I got many friends in the scene“. Are you really that stupid to call your contacts „friends“? O.k., there may be one or two. But the majority not. And are those two real friends? Have you ever spoken to them about your problems you have concerning things like girls, parents or whatever? No? Ah, sure! You may lose your „image“ (I said it before: being in a good group = being cool = having no problems, cause 64 rules!). WAKE UP! Don't think you got friends! If they send bad stuff or talk shit you'd „drop“ them. Haha. Friendship, eh?

Another thing is the way you are pretending to handle with things like love and girls! For most of you a „girlie“ is just something to present it to your contacts to show how cool you really are. WAKE UP! There is something more! And you know it! The 64 is only a machine. And: Did you ever got a girlfriend? Did you ever feel the warm touch of a girls body? I think most of you didn't (especially if they are very cool).

Well, I'm pissed of reading about „fucking“ girls... You lost your contact to the real life! Girls are no machines - they exist in reality! You are not able to turn them on or off or to „use“ them! WAKE UP!

Why am I writing this? You are all so stupid, that you'll never realise how you really are. The only way to get in touch with the reality you're living in (although if you're trying to ignore it) is to get out of your room and learn! I'm going to leave you know forever! Do the same or remain in your wannabe-life.

Good bye forever!

This is still very hard stuff! If you read this for the first time and you'd like to react in some way. JUST DO IT! Write back to Milestone and take part in the following discussion. I'd love to get some more reactions. Read all the reactions on this letter on the following pages!

Attack on the scene!

Hmm... Yes it's NOT true! In da scene are different guys and you can't say that everyone is so how da gay (well, he isn't gay and had got girlfriends (not like a not mentioned scener guessed - first girlfriend and frustrated what he had missed so he left the scene)) wrote. Yes, sum contax of mine are friends, not all, but a few! I talk with them 'bout personal things too! He's a pessimist! I think at da moment he wrote that he had a depri (depression). I know that feeling (you also!). Yes, friendship rulez in our scene. When a contact (or every other scener) visits me suddenly, I open my door! I don't say: Go home and send soon! That's friendship! We're one posse! One scene => one way! But that's not true! Scene isn't da whole life. How diz guy wrote. No guz is sitting 12 hours in front of his compi (sure about that? Look at those 10-12 year old kids with their Sega/Nintendo whatever...). 4 x-ample I spray too and there are much non-sceners who are in real life nobodies! And diz Nobodies are even not in any scene! A Nobody can't crack, paint and so! So you are creative and not nothing! It's true, we're cool!

Fireball / Crossline

Well, yes I think the point with the friendship („are you really that stupid to call your contacts friends“) is the most wrong point in his letter (most reactions handle with that point...). I also gained some close friends (SUNRISE) through the scene. But I really think that a lot of sceners (64, Amiga, PC) are spending all of their spare time in front of the computer! That's a truth!

Hello Mike!

Thanks for sending the latest Milestone. I really enjoyed it a lot again. It was a good mixture of reports, photos, news, ID's and all that stuff. Interesting and long interview. Little reaction to the Attack on the scene: I think nowadays not so many people take the scene so serious, and if there are some which haven't other things in mind, then it's their fault and problem, right? Bye!

Chaotic / Black Code Design

At least not in the 64 scene. I think that's true. But the author wrote about 1990 if I remember right...

Hi Mike!

Bah... 5 years! Impossible! Unfortunately I only read da last 2 issues... but they were very good! The piccies are nice 2 see & the quality of text is much beyond the one from diskmag! I enjoyed both tripreports... but I really wanna know who wrote that shit on page 10! It sucked! The text must have been written in a very depressive phase of the authors life! I guess that most sceners for e.g. ever felt „the warm touch of a girls body“! (If I did remember right)... and the crap the author wrote about friends... well... some of my best friends are on da C64 and I meet'em every week... so I guess he's wrong! Please ask da author to write about his thoughts and about the scene again... maybe he is „happier“ again! CU!

Ned / Accept

Well, it's a big difference if you have friends in your town or if you want to gain friends which you can't meet every week! And you probably don't take the scene (or at least whole Accept) so serious and well, you are not as successful as „full-day-sceners“ like in elite-cracking-groups (for example). Out of your view, you're right - he's a crap-talker. But try to imagine that there might be one or two who are not as you are.

Reaction to the article „Attack on the scene“:

I think he's not right if he says only one or two of your contacts are real friends. I also meet my contacts if I have the time and money (so do I!). And I have to say that my real life is quite far away from my computer life. Only the mentioned contacts I sometimes meet or call also exist in my real life as normal friends. The computer's still one of my hobbies. Other youths play football, tennis, volleyball, basketball, hockey... and they have even less time to work for school than myself. Not only sceners dislike school (sometimes or always). It is a fact that more than half of my class hates school (also sometimes or always). I also talk to my contacts on the phone or in letters and I do not talk about computers. They do not either. So I think many points in the note are wrong... that's my opinion.

Mav / Equinox

Surely a lot of people dislike school. Thats indeed a problem in general (cause school, unfortunately, is important). I agree - he's probably also wrong with that.

Attack on the scene!

Hello Mike,
Antifan/Eqx speaking... At first I wanna thank you a lot for still editing and releasing the famous Milestone! Simply no one else makes it to produce a papermag for such a long time... Even if the last issue was not as big as the issue before, it was cool as usual. Go on with the good resolution of the photos, they almost meet the original - I won't hesitate to pay 3.- DM for it... Also continue to print 1, 2 covers in the mag - but only reduce it one time in size, else the quality gets too bad... The party reports are always interesting just as the identities. This time the news really were good!

But the most interesting chapter of the last issue was the „Attack on the scene“, thanks for printing that letter! Here's my opinion about it: I also thought much about the problem of the typical scener in real life and so I think that the author of the letter is right in many things. It is totally senseless in reality if you once were in a special scene-group, some people do very much to get famous in the scene, even if they say they just do it „for fun“. If you are a good + fast swapper sending away 2, 5 or 10 sendings every day, you do not notice how much time you spend on the computer - and you are only working to keep the scene alive of which no one has an advantage. This seems weird, but this scene is kept alive because everyone can reach the things which are too hard or impossible to reach in real life; e.g. you can get over 200 people to read your articles or you get appreciated by many people for your musix, pictures, swapping activities (interesting point! I never thought about that! Hmm. Maybe this is the reason why I am doing Milestone...); but in the real life it can be hard to be in just some persons interest (just walk nude through your town and you're in many persons interest... just a little, stupid joke. Pfu!). Another interesting fact is that those „ELITE“ guys often have many problems in real life as they did much more on their holy Sixty-Four (or Amiga/PC) to get famous and to be able to join on of the ruling groups. So don't think they are much cooler than all the beginners, perhaps they seem to be outstanding scene-guys, but actually they are to be pitied...

But I have to say that not everyone behaves similar in scene and reality, so don't feel accused or something like that. Moreover you can be lucky if you are not the only scener in your town, so that you only can talk about the scene with your contacts. This is also the biggest opinion concerning scene friendship: In my opinion you can get many friends with swapping if you don't only write some lines to everyone - you have to swap because of interesting notes and not just because of the scene stuff... But if you have many scene friends, you won't get to know most of them because of huge distances! And so they ever will stay pen-friends. But I think that you can talk with them about problems in life even better than with „friends“ in reality, as the second mentioned are often no real friends; most teenagers today have no good friends they will keep forever, as statistics say (definitely true! I once was a teenager too, and well, today I have completely other friends than I had during my teenage-times! Believe me!). But with pen friends you can talk about much more if you dare! (that is the point! IF you dare! And there is the problem: You may really lose your „image“ and probably your friend! It must be very close pen-friends before you dare to write about personal problems! But at least: It is possible to get those kinda friends through the scene!). The main problem is that a usual swapper does not have the time to write about such „specials“. Before I finally get to the next part of the letter, I also think, that no mega-swapper should talk about friendship swapping if he is used to drop his „lame“ contacts!

I don't think that especially sceners imagine girls as machines, perhaps they get no attention of the female persons they know, which might be caused by their shyness or unconcernity and so they like it talking about them with friends. But in my opinion girls are treated in the same way both in the scene and in reality, at least many boys think it to be cool to call girls pure sex-objects. The only thing which might be conspicuous is, that many disc-covers and graphix show naked girls and these pictures are popular with many sceners around (else they wouldn't be painted so much, eh?) (or look at the PC CD-ROM where you can get hundreds of porno-CD's! I think that computeruser are probably very susceptible to such kind of stuff. Probably because they really have no contact to existing girls?).

At least I wanted to mention that such a letter is very interesting to read and interpret, but probably no one will leave the scene because of it. On the other hand some people might think more about their activities in scene and it would be positive if more sceners would try to shorten their computer-sessions... And as it seems that there are still pretty many guys who really did not recognize the dangers of their activity yet, articles like this letter are surely a good way to „WAKE UP“ some scene-members. Antifan signs off after a long time thinking about... the computer!

Antifan / Equinox

As I wrote a lot already during your letter, I won't write much here, except: Thanks for your very long letter! Great that you spent that much time for us!!!

Attack on the scene!

Reaction on „Attack on the scene!“:

By this time of writing, I've read the article on page 10 in the last issue of Milestone several times, and each time it's just as interesting. I can't help being fascinated by this guy's words.

He first tells you about how meaningless it is to be in an „elite“ group, and that no matter how „elite“ you are in the scene, you're still that unknown in real life. So far he's absolutely right. How many times haven't I told my friends, that I am a quite wellknown swapper in the C64 scene and they've just said „so what?“. Pretty frustrating, cause no one understands what the hell I'm talking about! This is something we all have to live with.

Now things are starting to degenerate: Further on he tells you that the C64 is just a machine and shouldn't be considered as an alternative for real life, as all of us do. DO WE? I don't (Well, but I think there are at least some who really do - read also next reaction!). I don't think that many hundreds of a percent of the sceners who are failures in real life choose the C64 scene instead, to hide behind as a wall. Man, you must have been really fed up with this computer when you wrote this. Do you really believe that the guys in the C64 scene today - or EVER - don't have any private lives beside their computers? To me, this is a totally weird statement. Something coming out of the mouth of a jealous guy who's drifted off course a long time ago. To me, the C64 is nothing but a hobby. It's like collecting stamps or going fishing; you do it because it's fun and interesting. It's as simple as that.

You say, that it is wrong to call your contacts friends. You say you're STUPID if you do that. Of course, none of my contacts are like my private life friends. But man, think before you say something! Have you never heard the expression „pen-friends“? Probably you haven't. People can still be your friends though you're not discussing private life matters with them. Do you really mean that a contact you have known for ages and who always write long and friendly letters, isn't a friend? Well, you only have to read the sentence again to prove that you're wrong.

If your note was aimed at just one or two persons that you knew was acting like this, I wouldn't have cared. But you seem to have the idea that EVERYONE does it and that makes me pissed.

You say, that the C64 is just a machine and not a friend. To me it is a tool. A tool for MAKING friends with. Some machine, eh?

Incubus / Antic

Well, in general. The author wrote about a different kind of scene. Before Cliques „Script“ the scene was different indeed! The word „friendship“ was not so important and completely unknown in the elite and megaswapper scene. This changed all with Remix, the prophet of friendship in this scene. Afterwards everybody was talking about „friendship-swap“ and „making friends with 64“. But before Script, things were different. There has been a lot of „wars“ and stuff. Maybe he was so frustrated because of the „old“ scene. Nowadays ist different indeed! Try to look at it as if you would be in 1990...

CD REVIEW

Paddy goes to Holyhead / Ready for Paddy?

Indigo/Holyhead Records

With this peace of work, Darmstadts Irish Folk-Punk Band P.g.t.H. leaves more and more the old type of music. There are only a few „pure“ irish folkpunk songs on this CD (Johnny went to the war, Civil war, The Annie B., Seldom Solber). The whole CD sounds more professional (which isn't a good thing in my opinion) and yes, more commercial. Nevertheless they are still playing fast, kinda „good mood“ music with irish influence. Their attempt to get more political is a bit strange. On the one hand, „Shirinovski“ is a very good fast piece of work, but on the other hand, „Civil war“ is not a real anti-war song. The text is stupid and the music much to happy!! Nevertheless if you like Irish folk and Punk music (like Levellers if you know them) you'll surely get a very good CD. If you can't buy the CD at your place, you could write to Holyhead Promotion, Schubertstr. 4, 64832 Babenhausen/Hessen, Germany and order a catalogue or the CD (30.- DM + p.p.). If you can get your hands on, then check it out!

Attack on the scene!

Hi!

I read the article in Milestone written by -someone-. I will address to the writer of this article!

Hi, you!

You said that someone being in a cool group is a nobody in „real life“. But you forgot... What you call „real life“ or „real world“ is just an illusion too! (??? Ever spoken to someone? Then you should have noticed that he exists or didn't you?). See it from the other point of view: If you are successful in „real life“, for example you are a rich businessman. But who are you in 64 scene if you can't code some cool things, paint or compose some cool tunes?? YOU ARE A NOBODY! Maybe that was the reason why you left? (Beeeeeep. He was in a real elite group! And I mean real elite! - Another thing: A rich businessman earns money with the things he does. Do you earn money with 64? And can you live from 64? A rich businessman can live from his success, I think a 64 member can't...). You say, our world „doesn't exist“, but it exists and is reality! There are groups, contacts, parties, competitions, wars, friendships... Like in the world you call „real world“ (take a look above). You call us sceners „kids“. Hm, I'm twenty years old and I think I'm not a kid. For me, a kid is a Gameboy-playing lamer not knowing what is a byte, a CPU etc... We are old enough to decide for ourselves. You call us „kids“, but what do you call the mad scientists just now developing a world called „virtual reality“? Millions of people will disappear in this world. But not me, I stay on C64.

„If you're not as good in school as others, you'll never earn the same money!“

But what do you want with money?? Money doesn't make me happy, but being successful on C64 does. If I have just enough money to live, I'm content. Yes, you'll earn a lot of money, you will have a big house, a large car, and a lot of false friends. That's what is expecting YOU! (You're absolutely right! Everybody should do what he wants! And sitting 12h a day in front of 64 makes you happy, why not? That's really a point and I wonder why no other write came up to that point!).

„We're in a society...“ Hey man, we ARE the society! And nobody of us lives ONLY in the 64 world (well you wrote sth different at beginning of your reaction! This sounds much better...). We are the society and if there's something we don't like in it, we should change it... and not adjust in blindness.

Change what you can't accept and Accept what you can't change

...the C64 is not a friend of course. But it has a flair, an atmosphere which keeps me on it. Unlike Amiga for example which I left two years ago.

„I got many friends in the scene“. Hey, I am not so stupid as you think... I DON'T call my contacts „friends“!! I call them „contacts“! I agree, in the lame scene of today, „friendship“ is a word, that even the lamest lamers use, but behind it stands only egoism. But for me, friends are friends and contacts are contacts!! And YES, I HAVE spoken to my friends about my personal problems. My „image“ isn't important for a REAL FRIEND!

„If they send bad stuff, I drop them“??? Oh man, even if they send NO STUFF at all, I don't drop them if they are my friends! YOU probably never found real friends, YOU never have tried to speak to someone about your problems. Maybe you were too weak to jump over your shadow and make clear for yourself that friendship, I mean real friendship, is more important than „image“ (this was exactly the point he CRITICIZED! That the „image“ is in the scene more important than friendship! Read the letter!). Maybe you made the mistake to accept your role. You will probably make that mistake again in the world you call „real world“... But remember: You build up the illusion that the world you live now in is the „real world“, only because many other people live there too (at least ALL, I guess). You accept the values of this world, you act in this world like it is expected from you. I live in this world. It is different. It has other values. For me, the most important values are friendship, honour and knowledge. In your world the most important values seem to be „successful“ and to have money. You cry „Wake up“, but don't see what is really important in life, no matter in which world you live... Don't support fascism, satanism or fun-addiction... Support real friendship on the C64... Stay who you are! Don't lose your character, be strong enough not to run with the dark masses of stupidity... Or you will lose your will and sink into oblivion... But don't worry! If you take the right way, we will always be with you and give you the feeling of friendship and security... forever. In some magnetic trance our power will dance! Hear my wise words and WAKE UP YOURSELF! All shining eyes, but never seeing.

I agree completely with you about love and girls. But everywhere, in any world, you will find people who treat girls as „fuck-machines“ and others who accept them as humans. In ANY WORLD you will meet good and evil guys. Here, there, everywhere... One target of life should be... to be happy! What does it matter, if you are happy in one world, or the other??? I leave you all now alone. And think about the future. The evil will never win if we believe in us. I will now go the way of immortals.

Thunderblade / Airwolf Team

The note was originally a disknote so I had some work to get it here. Please give your reactions on paper to me... It makes the whole printing much easier for me!

Anyway your note concerns some completely points and I think that they are worth discussing them a bit more! Is the 64 really an alternative to the real world? What is the sense of live... Just send some opinions for the next issue!!

The Inchtobokatables

12.02.1995, Mainz, Kulturzentrum (KUZ)

At about 19.30 Jens and myself got into my great car (Honda Civic 1982) and drove off to Mainz in order to see one of the greatest LIVE bands of our times...

We searched for quite a while for the KUZ because we took the wrong departure but finally we managed to get to a strange complex which is known as KUZ...

After standing for about 30 minutes in the line before the ticket-office (although we had already a ticket! Ha! Thats great...) we recognized that there is also an entrance for people who have already tickets... But we were not the only ones who were that stupid („...gell ihr habt auch schon Karten...“).

Entering the concert“hall“ we had to wait for quite a long time until the masters entered... They started with their Intro from their new CD (well, infact is was the „promotion“ tour for that CD) and jumped on stage... Everyone expected „Wars only wars“ after the Intro - but well, they played „Rightful King“. The atmosphere was quite strange at the beginning, only very few maniacs were jumping around... But the third song was a classic one and also we made it to the first lines („Three Gypsies“). And afterwards the atmosphere was as expected: Great!

If you never had been on an Inchie concert before you will probably be fascinated by the singers charismal He underlines nearly every word he sings (or shouts) with a gesture! It's not describable, you must see it! The music is a kind of folk-punk, but only with violins which they use from time to time as normal E-guitars (yes! difficult to imagine, but very funny). You must see it!

The whole concert had probably the best show I've ever seen on stage and that mostly because of their front-man B.Breuler. They played nearly all the songs from their new CD („Ultra“) but also classic, very successful hits from their CD's „White Sheep“ and „Inchtomanie“. At the end they took a boy and a girl (not knowing each other) out of the crowd and forced them to dance waltz to the song „No more silence“. Reason? They got ONE unofficial tape (which are rare) in order not to lose contact (kinda partner-mediation...). Funny, isn't it?

If you ever have the possibility to get to one of their concerts - take your chance!! It is worth the money, even if you don't like folk-punk (only those technoschrottstupidis should stay at their computers).

If you're interested in knowing more about the Inchtobokatables, then you could send me a tape (+ 3.-DM) and I'll send you a copy. Or write to Costbar, Burgstr. 9, 48301 Nottuln, Germany (Tel. 02502/6151, Fax 1825). See you!

(mike)

Well, this were my first concert reports, it may sound strange. Excuse that and I promise that I'll work to do it better next time...

Paddy goes to Holyhead

17.03.1995 (St.Patricks Day), Groß-Umstadt, Stadthalle

Well... As I visited already about 10 (or so) Paddy concerts during my lifetime, it isn't something new for me... But this one, should be a special one.

Driving off again with Jenzi and my car, we took the way into the dark forests of the „Odenwald“... Arriving at Groß-Umstadt, it began to rain. And it was a horrible rain! We drove around in this fucking „town“ and simply didn't find this place. The weather was bad, it was dark and I was nerved until we finally found it (the only sign which leads to the „Stadthalle“ was in front of it! Great!). Getting out of the car, the rain stopped. But nevertheless my feet got wet, as my shoes have holes...

Entering the hall, I was shocked. 2000 (TWO THOUSAND) people were standing like sardines... I can remember the band playing in Darmstadt for about 75 visitors. And now they manage to fill a huge hall with 2000 people. Unbelievable...

The whole concert was one of the worst I've seen from P.g.t.H. There were too much people and it was (for my ears) too loud. They played only about 2 hours and there were big breaks in between...

They played mainly songs from their new CD „Ready for Paddy?“ but also the classic ones from „Here's to the people“ and some traditional irish songs (like e.g. „Whiskey in the jar“, „Real ould mountain dew“, „Fair thee well Enniskillen“, „Murshin Durkin“ and more).

Anyway, I was dissappointed. The concerts are great, when they're playing in small halls. But this one was too huge!
